Re: the marvelous Ande Schurr

My name is Ron Oliver and, as an Emmy Award and Director's Guild of America Award nominated filmmaker, it has been my pleasure to work all over the world, in seven different countries on four continents, with many talented people while directing and writing projects for such studios as Warner Brothers, The Walt Disney Corporation and Viacom.

When I was in New Zealand making the movie "THE DELPHI EFFECT", starring Miss Shannen Doherty and Mr. John Rhys-Davis, I had the very good fortune to hire a talented young man by the name of Ande Schurr to be our on set sound recordist. To say that particular shoot was a challenge would be an understatement, as we executed extremely complicated scenes in very difficult locations, but Mr. Schurr sailed through all of this with flying colors. Not only was his work exemplary, with his remarkable skill in recording dialog and sound saving us hours in post-production, but his non-stop enthusiasm and general good-spiritedness was an inspiration to all of us on set.

I consider myself extremely lucky to have worked with Mr. Schurr, and I hope to do it again someday soon.

If you have any further questions please don't hesitate to contact me through my representative Sandy Weinberg at The Summit Agency, 310 205 9730.

Most Sincerely,

Ron Oliver.
